TWO MISSING MARINES, SHELL-SHOCKED BY BLAST, ARE FOUND

NORTH ALABAMA LOOKS SOLID FOR MORGAN LEADER

Counties Are Talked By Political Observers

EDUCATION IS STILL ISSUE

Patterson Fighting Hard In Last Few Hours

Patterson's home, the north Alabama section, looks solidly back of his candidacy, according to predictions issued here today by his campaign leaders.

Discussing the visit on Monday of Mr. Patterson into Lawrence and Lauderdale counties, Moulton in the morning and Florence in the afternoon, his political backers continued to express confidence today that his strength in both counties will mount above all expectations.

There is a certainty that Patterson will leave Morgan county with a strong majority over his three opponents, according to the present situation, is the belief of his constituents. Going from this county toward the south the Morgan man will certainly gain a plurality in Cullman county, if not a majority. Lawrence county, to the west, will go into Patterson columns. Madison leaders express the belief that Madison county, a political battleground since the opening of the present campaign, will go into the Patterson ranks by a slight plurality. His strength has grown in Limestone county, thought that county still has a decided leaning toward the Carmichael candidacy. Etowah county is conceded to the Patterson ranks, little is known here of the way the vote will go in Winston county. Colbert county will go to Carmichael with a strong Patterson following to go into second place. Jackson county is believed to be either in the Graves or the McDowell column.

From all indications the candidacy of Mr. McDowell, while not ignored by any means in north Alabama, is decidedly a weak issue with the voting contingents. Mr. McDowell will be second in this county, it is believed. In other counties little is heard of his strength, though the McDowell-Carmichael and Patterson votes are well distributed in Lawrence county.

EDUCATION DRIVE
A. G. Patterson is continuing his fight for education in this state through his last minute talks over the various counties in this state. Yesterday at Fort Payne the Morgan man made the following statement with reference to the educational program which he has adopted:

"During his discussion of his program for education which included the raising of $4,000,000 in additional revenue through the imposition of a reasonable severance tax on coal, iron, asphalt, limestone and other natural resources and the equalization of the taxation of railroads so as to make their totals in Alabama on a parity with the amounts paid in other Southern states, Mr. Patterson referred to a recent statement of L. L. Herzberg, chairman of the State Tax Commission, to the effect that his commission had completed the assessment of the property of all public service corporations including railroads and that the differences had been amicably settled. He makes this statement in spite of the fact that it has been shown that Alabama has received less in taxes from the railroads by $1,500,000 a year than has been received by the average state in the southeastern territory," said Mr. Patterson, "and he says the differences have been amicably settled. Amicable to whom? Certainly not to the people of Alabama who have been deprived of the proper

GODBEY TO MAKE ADDRESS TONIGHT

Tidwell Speaks At Hartselle This Afternoon

Hon. E. W. Godbey, prominent attorney of these cities, tonight will address the people of these cities upon the issues in the gubernatorial campaign. Mr. Godbey is speaking in behalf of Hon. A. G. Patterson, candidate from this county. The attorney is scheduled for an address at the corner of Johnston street and Second avenue, Albany at 8:30 o'clock, at the Preuit-Dillehay location.

Hon. Tennis Tidwell, Albany-Decatur attorney, is addressing a crowd of Hartselle and Morgan county voters at Stewart's lot in Hartselle this afternoon. Mr. Tidwell is likewise speaking in the interests of the Morgan man's candidacy. The local attorney is scheduled to follow an address by John A. Rogers, chairman of the State Highway Commission who is pushing the $75,000,000 bond issue.

Miss Lock To Be Buried Here

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday morning 10 o'clock at City cemetery chapel for Miss Henrietta Lock, who died Friday morning at her home in Birmingham. The body will arrive at 9:30 a. m. Sunday at Decatur depot and be conveyed to City cemetery where interment will be made. Brown directing.

Miss Lock was born and reared in Decatur, and went with her brother, Banister W. Lock to Birmingham about 35 years ago. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ada Parsley, and several nieces all of Birmingham.

Powell Speaks On Bank Street

J. N. Powell, of Falkville, candidate for the legislature from Morgan county, will close his campaign with an address this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the corner of Bank and LaFayette streets.

COOPERATION OF CITY IS PROMISED

Council Tells Plant Manager Of Its Interest

Cooperation of the City of Albany was pledged last night to the United Rock Asphalt company, which is opening an asphalt plant just south of here.

A. C. Leathers, sales manager of the new company, appeared before the council at its regular meeting, with a proposition to furnish rock asphalt for use here at a very low figure, in order, he said, to demonstrate its quality. Mr. Leathers declared the rock asphalt found in this county is superior to many other asphalts used in road construction.

President J. M. Maxwell, on behalf of the council, stated the city stood ready to encourage the new industry in every possible way.

Merchants of lower Second avenue last night voiced a complaint to the council against the parking of cars on Holly street, just off Second avenue. It was contended that traffic in that section was hampered seriously by the parked cars on the narrow thoroughfare.

Complaint also was made to the council regarding the condition of the Louisville and Nashville railroad crossing on First avenue. Representatives of the railroad company promised an immediate investigation of the condition of the crossing.

Private Phone Exchange Planned

The Decatur Corncorn and Roofing Company, rapidly growing local industry, soon will have a private telephone exchange. Arrangements now are being made for the installation of the private branch. The installation will be made by the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

TEAM PARADE

The parade of the drill team of the Albany-Decatur Grotto club and the concert by the Grotto band attracted much interest in the business districts last night, the drills being witnessed by large crowds.

FIRST STEP TAKEN FOR IMPROVING OF SEVERAL STREETS

Ordinance Providing For Paving Given To The Council

EAST ALBANY TO BE PAVED

Program Enabled To Make Good Speed It Is Believed

The first step looking to the wholesale improvement of streets in the eastern section of Albany was taken last night when the preliminary ordinances were introduced providing for improvement of Columbia Circle, Wadsworth, Olive Jackson and Sherman streets and East Tower avenue.

Another ordinance was introduced to provide for sanitary sewers, laterals in the hospital neighborhood, a civic improvement which has been before the council for several months.

The improvements contemplated in East Albany, it is believed, would result in the more rapid building of that section of the city. The program now contemplated by the council provides for the paving of virtually all of the more important thoroughfares in that ward and when completed would make a number of beautiful streets in East Albany.

It is not known how much time will be consumed in the clearing away of the necessary preliminary details, but belief was expressed that the improvement plans now could go forward speedily following the first step taken in the council last night.

Auto Halted On Railroad Tracks

STATESVILLE, N. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—One woman was killed almost instantly and four other women occupants of an automobile were injured seriously near here today when struck by a west-bound Southern railway freight train.

Mrs. H. J. Teeter, 60, of Morganton, was injured fatally, her daughter, Miss Pearl Teeter, who was driving the car; Miss Dorothy Hinant and Miss Louise Bennina, both of Raleigh; Miss Mary Ward, of Gibsonville, were the injured.

The automobile in which the women were riding stopped on the crossing track and the engineer was unable to stop. The injured are in a local hospital.

M'ALLISTER WILL NOT CONCEDE WIN TO GOVERNOR PEAY

Official Count Will Be Made Monday By The Boards

PEAY LEADING BY 5,000 VOTES

Three Hundred Boxes Still Have Not Made Report

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Tennessee today awaited the meeting of the county primary boards Monday to officially determine whether Governor Austin Peay, leading on the fact of unofficial returns by a majority of about 5,000 votes from nearly 90 per cent of the state's voting precincts, or Hill McAllister, opponent of Governor Peay for the gubernatorial nomination, will be the democratic standard bearer in the November election.

Late tabulation of unofficial returns, accounting for 1,895 precincts, of 2,195 in the state give Governor Peay 87,704 and Mr. McAllister 82,707, while estimates made of the vote in the greater part of the precincts, which failed to report the actual vote cast, followed much the same ratio as the actual returns showed.

Headquarters of McAllister today declined to concede the renomination of the governor, insisting the official canvass will show McAllister the winner.

A check of unofficial returns today, including estimated majorities in counties from which returns have not been reported, indicated that Peay had a majority in seven of the ten congressional districts. The tenth made up of Shelby and including the city of Memphis, the sixth which includes Davidson and the city of Nashville and the fifth district were listed in the McAllister column.

Davidson county, Mr. McAllister's home, went in his favor 9,832 to 5,360. Montgomery, the home of Mr. Peay, also in the sixth district was carried by the governor 2,966 to 295. Mr. McAllister carried Shelby, the most populous county in the state 15,743 to 3,677.

Dr. John R. Neal also a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, polled only a comparatively small vote.

In the congressional contest Representative Finis Garrett was renominated in the democratic primary in the ninth district and Representative C. Carol Reese won the republican nomination in the first.

ELABORATE PLANS MADE TO GIVE SERVICE ON ELECTION

Thousands Expected To Watch Returns Flashed On Screen Across Street From The Daily Office

The people of all North Alabama are urged by the Daily to take full advantage of the election service of this newspaper on the evening of August 10 and thereafter until the results of all of the interesting races are known.

Elaborate arrangements have been perfected by The Daily for obtaining the results of the election as soon as the ballots are tabulated. Letters have been dispatched to the returning officers of the most of the county boxes, asking that these gentlemen notify The Daily as soon as the count is finished. The Southern Bell Telephone company is cooperating in getting these calls lined up and special attention will be given the returning as they place their calls to The Daily.

Believing that the elaborate preparation necessary for the speedy handling of the election returns will be of interest to readers of The Daily, the following explanation is given.

J. Adlai West will handle the returns from the two Hartselle boxes; Mrs. Sardia Winton will report the results of the three Somerville boxes; Miss Velma Arrington at Eva will handle the returns there; Mrs. J. B. Gamble will perform a similar duty at Trinity; Dr. J. B. Elliott will make the report on the Falkville box.

The boxes in Fairview, Anthonville and Moulton Heights will be handled as will the four boxes in Albany and the two boxes in Decatur. These boxes will be looked after by Ted Sheppard and Clyde Johnston, of The Daily's local staff.

B. C. Shelton, J. M. Hatfield and Marvin Rankin will have charge of the incoming telephone calls from boxes in Morgan, Limestone and Cullman, the two latter counties being included in The Daily's area for "coverage" for the Associated Press. They also will have

AMERICAN CONSUL VICTIM OF INSULT

Chinese Troops Hold Hanson Prisoner For a While

(Associated Press)

HARBIN, Manchuria, Aug. 7.—G. C. Hanson, American consul here, was the victim today of an unprovoked insult at the hands of Chinese soldiers, who barred the exit from the consulate, making Hanson a prisoner in his own quarters.

The situation developed while a mid-afternoon group of Chinese bandit suppression troops were drinking from the fountain in the consulate courtyard. Hanson was making his way from the consulate through an iron gate-way, when he was thrust back and threatened with upraised rifles.

Consul Hanson submitted to their offensiveness and waited until they departed.

Consul Hanson immediately demanded from the Chinese authorities punishment of the offenders and apology of their superior officer at the consulate in uniform, and informed the United States legation at Peking of his actions.

charge of the tabulation of the balloting.

B. M. Bloodworth and W. S. Finch will have charge of handling of the state returns from the Associated Press wire and with the out-going returns to the Associated Press, together with the writing of the slides for the screen, upon which news of the progress of the count will be flashed to the waiting thousands in the street in front of The Daily office.

Others will be stationed at the local telephone to give news of the election to those who telephone. An extra telephone is being placed in The Daily office to take care of the large number of extra calls expected.

J. R. Rosson, of Cullman, will have charge of the report on the state and district races in Cullman county. D. L. Rosenau, Jr., of Athens, will have charge of the report on Limestone county. Both will keep in almost constant touch with The Daily office and Mr. Rosenau plans to entertain a number of Limestone county people with news of the election, received from The Daily.

City authorities of Albany have given their complete cooperation and the block of Second avenue between Moulton and Holly streets will be closed to traffic from six o'clock until such time as the crowd, which is expected to watch the returns flashed, has disappeared.

The screen, upon which news of the election will be given to the people of this section, will be placed upon the building occupied by the Schimmel and Hunter Furniture company, directly opposite The Daily office.

Returns from the election will begin in sometime between six and seven o'clock. Everyone is invited to be present. The Daily is bearing all expenses of the "party" and the public is cordially invited to take full advantage of it.

PEOPLE FAIL TO HEED WARNINGS

Garbage Must Be Put In Covered Cans, City Says

The sanitary department of the City of Albany, in a statement today, declared that many people still are failing to heed the repeated warning that garbage must be kept in covered sanitary cans.

Section 372 of the city code states all persons throwing trash, or filth on the streets or alleys shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to fine in the city courts. Mayor Carswell stated today that this annoyance has continued in spite of repeated warnings and any person guilty of violating this law shall be fined from $1 to $10.

Posses Searching For Life-Termer

ORLANDO, Fla., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Joe Tracy, the life-termer bandit, who perpetrated the "loot recovery" ruse to escape from officers who, under his guidance, were searching the Everglades for a cache, supposedly of Liberty bonds, today was reported to be hiding in Cranberry swamp, on the south side of Alligator Lake, near here according to a long distance telephone report to the Associated Press from St. Cloud.

Sheriff's posses, composed of men from both Kissimmee and St. Cloud, have gone to the scene and are combing the swamp, it was said.

MEN 'REMEMBER' NOTHING SINCE THE DEPOT EXPLOSION

Privates Wandering In Dazed Condition Along Streets

FATHER NOT RECOGNIZED

Marine Corps Is Told Of Discovery Of Two Fighters

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Oliver C. Bliss, 18, of Waterville, Ohio, and Paul W. Moreau, Bridgeport, Conn., privates in the United States Marine Corps, and listed as missing since the explosion which destroyed the U. S. Naval ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, N. J., are at the home of Bliss's parents.

Both men appeared to be shell shocked. They have been wandering in a dazed condition since the day of the explosion Bliss's parents said.

Two marines were found at the interurban station here this morning by Bernie Bliss, Oliver's father. A cousin, Ralph, had reported that he thought he had seen Oliver on a Toledo street yesterday afternoon and his father had searched for him.

He happened to come across the men in the station.

Oliver burst into tears when he saw a concrete bridge which crosses a little stream in the rear of his home.

"It looks like an ammunition dugout," he said. "I am afraid it will explode."

Oliver had $1.75 in his pocket when found and Moreau 75 cents. They do not remember how they came to Toledo, but Mr. Bliss believes that they walked.

Marine corps officials were notified of their return and they were taken to Detroit this afternoon. There a guard will be furnished to escort them to the naval hospital in Washington, D. C. Oliver did not recognize his father. He threatened to call a patrolman and have them arrested for molesting him. It was half an hour before he knew him. Both men were shaking hands when questioned.

"The day of the explosion," Oliver said, "we were swimming. We saw the storm coming up, dressed and started for the barracks. When we were about a mile away the first explosion occurred. I remember being lifted off the ground and that's all."

The men were unable to explain how they came to Toledo. Both had growth of beard on their faces. They were attired in trousers and shirts, although Moreau had a blue coat with him.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The parents of Paul W. Moreau, United States marine corps private, listed as missing since the explosion at Lake Denmark, N. J., have not heard from their son Mrs. Moreau said today. She expressed hope that one of the two men located in Waterville, O., was Paul.

LIMESTONE PAPER NOT IN ATTACK

Editor Walker States He Does Not Enter Road Charge

Editor R. H. Walker, Limestone Democrat publisher at Athens, today made known his position upon the fight made against Andrew G. Patterson in that county, with regard to the building of a paved road on a section of the Athens to Florence highway. Mr. Walker stated that his paper had not made any fight upon Patterson along that line and that he knew Patterson had nothing to do with the failure to pave that particular stretch of highway.

In his talk to the Daily today Mr. Walker reflected credit upon his fraternity, stating that he did not care to indulge in politics of the "mud-slinging" type and although he has declared his opposition through the columns of his newspaper toward the candidacy of Mr. Patterson, his has been a constructive fight in favor of his candidate rather than a destroying force to others in the race.

The Athens editor declared his newspaper had not made assertions pointing toward Mr. Patterson as the man responsible for the failure on the Athens-Florence road and that he knew Mr. Patterson was not responsible for that failure. Mr. Walker called the Daily with reference to an editorial published Friday in this newspaper in which the Limestone "papers" were taken to task for attacking Patterson for something he had not done as a member of the highway commission from this district.

CHOLERA TAKING APPALLING TOLL

Foreigners Suffering Little In Shanghai From Disease

Shanghai, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Cholera, scourge of the East, is taking an appalling toll of Chinese in the native sections of Shanghai and in the district known as Pootung, across the Whangpoo river. The dread disease is carrying off more than 1,000 daily, it is estimated.

Foreigners living in well governed concession districts, under modern sanitary conditions, have suffered comparatively little. Only two of the 20,000 foreign residents have succumbed. It is impossible to obtain an accurate count of the deaths among the Chinese in their densely crowded, unsanitary districts, into which a population of 1,500,000 is jammed.

amount from these corporations." He referred to the recent statement that if Mr. Patterson knew the railroads were not paying their fair share of taxation he should ment of one candidate for governor have brought the fact to the attention of the state tax commission. Mr. Patterson said the law permitted the public service commission to aid the tax commission, only when commanded so to do by the governor and that a request for aid has ever been made by the governor to the public service commission or insofar as he knows by the commission, the governor. However, he said that when he made the discovery of the deficiency in taxes as paid by the railroads he had the printed and distributed among state officials including the governor, state tax commission, and all members of the legislature.

VOTE FOR JUDGE B. M. MILLER

For Associate Justice of Supreme Court of Alabama. He is now serving his FIRST term and his record entitles him to a second.

The Progressive Era unqualifiedly endorses Judge B. M. Miller of Wilcox county for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. He is a candidate for a second term. In 1904 he was elected Judge of the 4th Judicial Circuit composed of the counties of Bibb, Dallas, Hale, Perry and Wilcox, and he held this office continually without opposition until 1920 when he was elected to the Supreme Court. As Circuit Judge, he held court in Butler, Jefferson, Madison, Mobile, Montgomery, Pickens, Tallapoosa and Tuscaloosa counties under assignment of the Chief Justice. He presided at Huntsville in the trial of Circuit Clerk Overton charged with killing Probate Judge Lawler. Perhaps the most famous decision handed down by Judge Miller as a trial Judge was the one in which he declared unconstitutional the State Income Tax law. This decision was upheld by the Supreme Court. As a Judge he is noted for the orderly dispatch of business and possesses the courage of his convictions.

He is a brother of the late Joseph N. Miller, U. S. District Attorney at Mobile under Grover Cleveland, and of John H. Miller of Birmingham who at the time of his death was Circuit Judge of Jefferson county.

Judge B. M. Miller deserves and we believe will receive in the August Primary the endorsement of the Democrats of this state for a second term.—Wilcox Progressive Era of July 15th 1923.

Mrs. Hall's Features Analyzed By Expert, Show Great Strength

BY MARGERY REX

International News Service Special Correspondent

NEW YORK—What's in a face? Faces are the nameplates of personality, for not only physiognomists, but physicians, can tell character from features.

Now the gland specialists are able to divide us into certain types—also revealed by faces. One of these specialists, Dr. Herman Rubin, analyzes the features of Mrs. Edward Hall, wife of the murdered rector of New Brunswick, now charged with murdering her husband and Mrs. Mills, with whom he was in love.

Masculine Type

Dr. Rubin says: "Mrs. Hall is a hyper-pituitary type, with heavy masculine eye-brows—indicating cleverness—and almost square of jaw. She would strongly resist any attack of opposition, and would be able to hold a secret more closely than the ordinary woman. She can hide her thoughts and is not to be intimidated by this or any other investigation."

"Women are changing from the thyroid type to the pituitary. Leaving feminine for masculine."

"First the appearance changes. Then the environment. When the environment changes, then the glands change—then the features change. It makes a vicious circle."

Can't Retract Circle

"It would be hard for a woman to go back around this circle to the starting point. She would have to go back to the first environment, but it might be too late after full growth is reached and the gland type decided—well, we can modify them to a certain extent, but not change them entirely.

"A man is never true to a woman of this masculine type. She does not inspire tenderness and fidelity."

The nose is large; she is the aggressive type, almost so much so as to be called 'big-nosed,' like the successful masculine type. The mouth, too, is strong and firm, locked to keep back what she does not want to say.

"Her eyes indicate that she is keen and shrewd. One eye is narrowed, showing a keen, shrewd mind."

Unusual Ear

"The ear, long, large, without lobe, is really indicative of some unusual turn of mind, rather cold and brutal, I'm afraid. It is too large for a woman, yet it goes well enough with a long, large face. This large boned face is called 'acromegalic'—many faces show enlargement of bones after middle age."

"She is strong-minded. Other typical pituitary strong-minded individuals are George Bernard Shaw, and the great Darwin. It is the genius type. The genius may be for good or bad."

"If Mrs. Hall were a man she might be a genius; maybe she is a man to distraction. Her mental a potential genius. At any rate, powers, her strong resistance to she would make a good executive, outside forces, prevent that. If through a strict boss. Mrs. Hall did the crime, as charged "Cover up the feminine hair-dressing and then you have a face that looks like a man's. ing out of frustrated love, but one due to injured pride and fierce "This type of woman cannot love anger."

Kilby and Muscle Shoals

A Final Appeal To Thoughtful Voters Regarding The Foremost Question Before The Nation Today

To The Voters of the Tennessee Valley:

There are just two days remaining before the voters of Alabama go to the polls to decide whom they will elect to serve as their representative in the United States Senate for the next six years. These remaining two days should be devoted to serious thought on the part of the people of the Muscle Shoals district; for if they send an inexperienced man, a man whose environment was that of a power company attorney or one whose record has not been firmly established as a friend of Muscle Shoals, the consequences will be of tremendous import to the development of that great district of Alabama.

I know that Governor Kilby is vitally interested in the Muscle Shoals question. He believes that governmental aid to the farmers of the country is the most pressing question now before our people, and that nothing can be done that will be of greater service to the agricultural interests of the South than to develop Muscle Shoals as a plant for the manufacture of cheap fertilizer and the Tennessee River as an agency of water-way transportation.

Shortly before he announced as a candidate for United States Senator, Governor Kilby was offered a block of stock in the Southeastern Power and Light Company, the holding company for the Alabama Power Company. Had he accepted this offer, it would have been worth several hundred thousand dollars to him today, but he knew that he could not represent the Alabama Power Company and the people of Alabama at one and the same time, so he declined the offer. He is thereby in position to render unselfish, effective service to the people of the State as a whole.

With reference to a specific program for Muscle Shoals, Governor Kilby stands for the immediate building of Dam No. 3 and the Cove Creek Dam, and ultimately the full development of the river between Cove Creek and Dam No. 3.

Governor Kilby is in favor of sticking to the original purposes for which Muscle Shoals was developed, viz: The manufacture of fertilizer for agricultural purposes in time of peace and the manufacture of nitrates for explosives in time of war. However, he favors the operation of the plants now in existence at Muscle Shoals and does not favor the building of new plants, which would require a large new capital investment, the cost of which would have to be absorbed in the cost of fertilizer to be manufactured.

Governor Kilby considers Muscle Shoals primarily and essentially a fertilizer proposition. Secondly, he is in favor of an arrangement that will absolutely insure a cheap rate of power for the public.

The question naturally arises: Why select Kilby over someone else?

The answer is:

1st. Because he is a free man, under no obligation to the Alabama Power Company or any other selfish interest.

2nd. The Muscle Shoals question is primarily a business question, and Governor Kilby has shown in his private and public life that he is capable of solving such questions. For instance, a man who could put over in the Legislature of Alabama the Port of Mobile Amendment after it had been defeated and when it was being attacked by one of the most powerful lobbies ever brought to the State Capital can be a powerful factor in putting over the Muscle Shoals proposition at Washington under similar conditions.

Governor Kilby is going to Washington with the prestige that naturally attaches to a successful ex-Governor of a great State. He has had legislative and executive experience, and will be able to do effective work for his constituency from the day he arrives in Washington until the day he surrenders his commission.

Do not experiment, but elect a go-getter, a man with a record of public service, as your next Senator.

MISS INEZ MILLER WINNER OF MEDAL

Contest Attracts A Large Crowd To The Church

Miss Mildred Inez Miller last night was selected the winner in the W. C. T. U. contest staged by the local members of that organization. Miss Miller's talk was based upon the famous oration of the late William Jennings Bryan "Today's Imperative Task."

Miss Miller is now the winner in the first of four steps in the contest, the first step, winner being presented with a silver medal. Gold and diamond studded medals are presented for the winners of the second, third and fourth contests. The medal was presented by Mrs. C. W. Black, state corresponding secretary.

In the address Miss Miller pointed out that all laws are violated and that the only defense is seen in the decree of public sentiment and in the selection of officers who are opposed to lawlessness.

As proposed in the talk three remedies were to be considered for lawlessness: Voting for officials who favored the enforcement of law, educational work along the lines of total abstinence, the bringing of economic experts from other counties to determine the economic value of the 18th amendment to the people of the United States, in comparison with other nations and their laws.

It is probable that two other contests will be held in connection with the national contest.

Paul McComber Is Given First Aid at Cullman

Paul McComber, well known local resident, enroute to Birmingham today in custody of Patrolman Brazleton, of the Decatur department became suddenly ill while en route to the Magic City. He was taken from the train at Cullman and given treatment by two physicians of that city. His condition was not believed to be serious.

According to a report received here, McComber told the officer that he had taken poison. The officer telegraphed ahead to Cullman, asking that the train be met by officers and doctors, which request was complied with.

TODAY 12 Years Ago

From The Daily of
August 7, 1914.

The new election law provides that aldermen elected in New Decatur must be voted upon by the city-at-large.

J. D. Evans has returned from a week's visit to Guntersville.

Miss Willie Baird, of Columbia, Tenn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Flowers.

Mrs. Will Wyker and little son have returned from a visit to relatives in Pulaski.

Misses Margaret and Grace Moffett arrived last night from Birmingham to be the guests of Miss Leta Bess Harrison.

There is an especially long ballot to be voted in this county this year, the candidates are of the same opinion.

Some folks take to civic proposals like they enjoy cutting grass in the front yard at six in the morning.

More than 1400 visitors were in Opelika Thursday to attend the opening session of the singing convention. Isn't it probable that Albany and Decatur are overlooking a good opportunity in their failure to bring more of these meetings to the Twin Cities?

Far removed from the large number of sordid stories that usually burden an ordinary newspaper day is the story of heroism displayed by Miss Zora Bell Higginbotham, of Birmingham, who gave her life in an effort to save her sister, Mary Ruth, from drowning.

WEIGH YOUR VOTE CAREFULLY BEFORE CASTING IT FOR SENATOR

Alabama people have become so much concerned with the many vital issues entering into the race for governor, that, in many cases they have given very little consideration to the election of a senator.

The Daily does not seek to advise any voter for whom his or her ballot shall be cast for a senatorial nominee, but The Daily does urge every voter to weigh the qualifications of the various candidates carefully before the ballot is cast.

The issues in the gubernatorial race are important and they are pressing. For the moment, perhaps, they are more important than those in the Senate race, but we must not overlook the fact that the man honored by the democratic nomination on Tuesday is likely to spend the next 18 years of his life as the representative of this state in the highest law-making tribunal in the world.

Under democratic custom and precedent, Alabamians are likely to nominate for a second term the man who is nominated Tuesday for his first term. Upon the expiration of his second term, the Alabama senator will have reached a place of power in the Senate which will be of such great importance to this state that, unless other issues outweigh this importance, Alabama probably will send him back for a third term.

It does not require much imagination to visualize Tuesday's nominee in the Senate 18 years hence.

The Daily urgently requests its readers to take these things into consideration in casting their ballots in the Senate race.

MARKED SIMILARITY SEEN IN ADVERTISEMENTS OF CANDIDATES

Charles McDowell, in his newspaper publicity, aims several darts at Carmichael, on the ground that the Tusculum entry is second man in the race. Mr. Carmichael, in his own publicity, says "It is either McDowell or Carmichael. Rather a marked similarity, isn't it?"

And for what purpose must one suppose that these two candidates, generally accredited with being very antagonistic to each other, indulge in such a love feast? Surely they must not be unmindful of the knowledge that Alabama voters who think for themselves know that Mr. McDowell would not utilize paid advertising space to advise the voters of the state of the strength of Mr. Carmichael, if he really felt that it would be necessary for him to defeat Mr. Carmichael in order to be elected himself.

Isn't it also singular that neither of these candidates devote any space to discussion of Mr. Patterson? Doesn't such a chain of coincidences almost force one to the conclusion that BOTH Mr. McDowell and Mr. Carmichael feel that the least they say about Mr. Patterson the better for them?

The candidacy of Andrew Patterson has blazed like a meteor across the political horizon of the state. Probably never before, in any race for state office, has there been a candidate who made such rapid gains. McDowell and Carmichael may explain as they like, but they cannot convince any great share of the voters that they are NOT AFRAID of that rising tide of Patterson strength which threatens to engulf them.

McDowell seeks to ignore Patterson, John Rogers seeks to deride him, but neither has succeeded in his purpose. The flood of letters and telegrams coming into Patterson headquarters every day indicates the winning of thousands of votes to his standard. Carmichael and McDowell strive valiantly to make it appear that he has no chance, hoping by such tactics to discourage his workers, but their hoax has fallen flat.

The people of Alabama have not, are not and will not be deceived. They know that there never has been a political campaign in which the people were aroused, that the people did not win. Their task simply is to arouse the people to the dangers which lurk in the election of a railroad attorney to the governorship of this state . . . and the people are being aroused. Every passing day adds to the strength of the Patterson candidacy. Messrs. Carmichael and McDowell, the railroad twins, cannot by their silence change that fact.

JUDGE THOMAS W. WERT WILL MAKE ALABAMA GOOD OFFICIAL

His personal campaign ended, with the exception of keeping in touch with his friends over the state who are continuing to roll up his majority, Judge Thomas W. Wert has returned to his home tired but happy.

Beginning his campaign three months or more ago, Judge Wert has steadily increased his strength in every county in Alabama. So effective has been the appeal of his many qualifications, that his election now is conceded. The question is how large will be his majority.

The desperation to which one of his leading opponents has been put recently was furnished when he was reported to have held himself up as "the only candidate for attorney general licensed to appear in the supreme court of the United States." To attorneys and persons familiar with the processes of law, of course, the charge of this opponent was laughable.

To others who might be unacquainted with legal processes, however, the charge may have made some appeal. At any rate, the Montgomery Times, in order to clear up the matter, recently published a letter from J. Q. Smith, a former attorney-general of Alabama, in which he exposes the littleness of the charge and holds up to scorn any attorney who would make it.

Mr. Smith writes in the Times as follows:
Editor The Times,
Montgomery, Ala.:

My attention has been called to the fact that one of the candidates for the attorney generalship of Alabama is advertising that he is "the only candidate for the attorney generalship who has a license to practice law in the supreme court of the United States."

To become a member of the supreme court bar, a lawyer must be introduced to the court and show that he has been admitted to practice in the supreme court of his state for three years, and is of good character, pay a nominal fee and have his name enrolled. I was not licensed to practice in the United States supreme court when elected attorney-general. The present efficient attorney general was not licensed to practice in that court when elected, and I believe that it would be safe to say not a lawyer ever elected to the office of attorney general in Alabama has had a license to practice in that court when elected. There is no necessity for a lawyer to be so admitted, until he has business in that court.

Respectfully submitted,

J. Q. SMITH,

Ex-Attorney General of the State of Alabama.
The last-minute effort of his opponents to check the landslide toward the candidacy of the local man will fail, just as the effort referred to by Mr. Smith failed. The people of Alabama are far too intelligent to permit any kind of political clap-trap to effect their decision to elect Judge Thomas W. Wert as attorney general . . . a capable man for an important office.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS for the Sabbath and Other Days

(By J. E. BLAIR)

"A woman is the ruin of a man; and a man is the ruin of a woman," said by a newspaper seller, invited the delay of a worker and occasioned the loss of his elevator.

The philosophy of the "street man" was sound let alone the delays he occasioned. One other person or a dozen others "ruin" nobody. "It's in ourselves, not in our stars, that we are underlings." The worker mentioned is not the only one who is losing appointments by listening to half-baked philosophers. There is the "wet" statesman. He is taking valuable time, stopping way-farers and telling them the thing the government ought to do "is to modify the Volstead act." Such people ignore the fact that "two wrongs never made a right." If persons persist in evading the laws that require the payment of just and honest debts, shall the laws against getting things under false pretense be repealed? There is the religionist who is teaching that God will not do thus and so. Does it get any where to say God will not punish sin, when every day we see retribution? Among the "liberal preachers" it is very common now when the question is raised as to the reported conduct or rather "misconduct" of modern youths to dismiss the whole subject with the inquiry: "Are the young people now any worse than they were a generation ago?" Well, suppose they are no worse. Just what was done in the vast majority of cases a generation ago, by the young people SHOULD NOT HAVE BEEN DONE? If the past generations had done as they should, we would not have such a bad world today!

According to the "paper seller," John Wesley would have been ruined by the bad temper of Susanna, his wife; but Mr. Wesley became a great man in spite of his wife. Since the "worker" had lost his appointment, any way, he stopped and explained to the "seller" that Mr. Shakespeare and the Bible teach that as a man sows so shall he reap, not some one else. The "seller" was told: "If you have a running sore on your hand, are you going to let it poison you to death, or will you cure the sore place?" Of course the "seller" agreed, and said: "You are right." But what good did it do to acknowledge to the truth? There is no promise for those who simply acknowledge to the truth. Only as we acknowledge the truth in our lives will our lives be saved from destruction. You could not expect "truth" to save you unless you took it into your system could you? No, not a bit more than you would expect medicine to save your life unless you "took" it. Your life conditions BEFORE and AFTER taking the truth, is the only proof we have,

CALVIN COOLIDGE has just finished his third year as president of the United States. If conditions continue as they have been during his three years in the White House, and if prosperity continues as it is, what chance is there of beating Calvin Coolidge in 1928?

WAGES are up, taxes are down, government receipts are up, the cost of living is down. The president doesn't claim the credit. He says: "No government can make prosperity." One thing is certain. President Coolidge has not prevented rising prosperity from rising, and that is something in these days.

LADY ASTOR, brilliant Virginia girl, who showed British women the way into parliament, is here, spreading views and advice as she should. She despises "typical" people, by which presumably, she means the average. Very brilliant, no more typical than Olympians, mother of Alexander, Lady Astor does not realize that "typical" people are the solid substance of which the human race is made and a substance necessary.

A man seeking for gold despises ordinary rocks and soil. But gold would be worth nothing if ordinary rock and soil were lacking.

Lady Astor should thank the dull background that heightens her radiance.

Rev. Davis Will Preach On Sunday

Rev. G. J. Davis, pastor of the First Baptist church Marietta, Ga., has been invited by the Pulpit Committee of the Decatur Baptist church to supply the pulpit morning and evening Sunday in the absence of Rev. E. E. Johnson, who has been supplying this pulpit. Rev. Davis is a graduate of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., and comes highly recommended by a number of the brethren who have known of his work in other fields. The Decatur Baptist church has been without a pastor since the removal of Dr. Chas. C. Davidson to Miami, Fla., June 1st. The congregation of the church have been holding up well during the summer months and a large attendance is expected to hear Rev. Davis.

were fired through a window. One report suggests jealousy. Another attributes the killing to bootleggers annoyed by the evangelist's hostile attitude. They say the killing of the woman was accidental.

THE other day in Texas, a clergyman who had attacked the city government shot and killed a man who called upon him to remonstrate. New York and New Jersey discuss an extra ordinary murder case, revived after four years of silence—that of the Rev. Mr. Hall, Episcopal clergyman, found shot to death under an old crabapple tree, with Mrs. Mills, a member of his choir, murdered beside him.

IN connection with the last case, Senator Simpson, special prosecutor, says "Shameful negligence was shown in the case originally, and the case was treated in a way that ought to satisfy any murderer."

The general attitude of the law toward criminals in this country seems to be of a kind that "ought to satisfy any criminal."

"No man a hero to his valet" did not apply to Theodore Roosevelt. His valet writes for Collier's Weekly about the last days of his master as a convinced hero worshiper. Alone of his death, the valet says Roosevelt's last words were, "Please put out the light."

THEODORE Roosevelt was tired, his heart was broken, by the death of his son, Quentin. Goethe's last words were "More light." They were appropriate for few men have contributed more light to the human race than Goethe contributed.

The question for us all is this:

Does death mean only "putting out the light," or does it mean for us all "more light?"

DISPATCHES from Mexico report that houses of several Protestants have been burned by Catholics.

This is doubtless due to the belief that the Protestants have been responsible for, or have stimulated, the Mexican government's action against the Catholic church. One statement by a Protestant bishop in Mexico was calculated to stir up Catholic anger.

THE Mexican president has rejected the Catholic bishop's suggestion of an armistice. The boycott to impress the government, will be pushed energetically.

IT IS announced that this government will not lift the embargo on shipment of arms from the United States to Mexico, and shipment of airplanes from this country also may be forbidden. That would make it difficult to start any organized Catholic revolution against the government.

It is announced also that Pope Pius will oppose, to the utmost, any such revolution.

J. H. HILL

For Re-Election for Tax Collector

To the Voters of Morgan County:

Owing to the fact that the duties of the office have kept me busy closing up last year's business, I have not been able to make a personal canvass as I would like to. So I am trying to reach as many of you in this way as possible.

I feel that my management of the office justifies me in asking for a second term which has been the Democratic custom since the days of George Washington. It takes most of the first term to learn the business. So with my present experience, I feel that I will be better able to serve you in the future than I have in the past. My record is open and I invite your investigation as to my character and ability to give you an honest, clean administration of the Tax Office. I earnestly ask each of you for your vote and influence which should be given to no man except upon the basis of a positive belief in his moral fitness. I realize that there has been some knocks and criticisms for no man can fill a public position without that, but all this helps me to appreciate the many compliments paid me on the management of the office. It has been said that I am a minister. This is true, I have given the best years of my life in the service without a charge. I am still doing so and expect to continue to do so. Am conducting as many funerals as any minister in North Alabama and marrying the young people.

Now, as a Democrat, I make my final appeal to the voters for an endorsement for the second term. Some Collectors are running for their third and fourth terms and one Collector in the State has just made his thirty-first settlement, having served 31 years.

I want to thank the people for their co-operation in the past and for the many compliments paid me, and for the promised support in the coming election. And I assure you that if I am re-elected I will not lose sight of the fact that I am a servant of the people placed here to give you the best possible service. The appreciation expressed by so many prompts me to believe that the voters are willing to give us the usual democratic endorsement.

—VOTE FOR—

Claude P. Johnston —for— Tax Assessor

I have been unable to visit all the voters in Morgan county, and believe every voter wants to know the qualifications of the man for whom he or she is voting.

I was born and reared at Somerville, Ala., am 39 years old—in the prime of life. Am basing my qualifications for this office on three major things: 1. Three years education at Birmingham-Southern College after completing public schools at Somerville; 2. Was appointed postmaster at Somerville and served 10 years, except for a lapse of 13 months, which time I was in military service; 3. I am familiar with land numbers, having had such training in administering an estate.

In my opinion, there are two essentials to consider in the selection of a Tax Assessor. One who is competent and is honest enough to do his duty. My record shows I have those qualifications. I welcome you to investigate me as to my ability and honesty. Then, if you can see your way clear to support me, I will highly appreciate your vote and influence.

SECOND CUBAN PAYS GARROTE

Execution Second In Over Past Twenty Years

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Aug. 7.—(AP) Hernan Pena was executed by the garrote this morning for the murder two years ago of Mayor Villalón of Santiago. The coil of the machine tightened about his neck at 6:01 o'clock and he was pronounced dead after seven minutes. It was the second execution in Cuba for the last 20 years, Salvatore Aguilera having been garroted July 8 for the murder of his aunt.

Antonio Puala-Romero, who was convicted of homicide six years ago, was again the executioner and was assisted as before by Frank Davis, a negro of Savannah Ga., who is serving a sentence for robbery.

According to the official witnesses, Pena went to the garrote tranquilly and death apparently came immediately after the collar was tightened. Pena is reported to have maintained his innocence to the last.

UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF Q. B. DOWDY

PARIS.—Now is the time when all the great Parisian couturiers are evolving new ideas for autumn and winter models. Very soon it will be known just how Milady will dress for the next six months. Until then only a few hints can be obtained as to which way the wind will blow.

Fundamentally the silhouette will remain the same. The big question of course concerns the length of the skirt. Rumor has it that it will be a trifle longer, perhaps two or three inches below the knee. All walking dresses will be short. Tailor-mades will fall slim, short and straight and have only hidden pleats to give width. In all will be given in draperies and silken and lace dresses the fullness of flounces. For the evening, the full and longer skirt is indicated and wherever there is dancing the long dress may be seen mingling with the shorter skirts.

Long sleeves are a surety for all occasions except full evening dress and these will be a bit more decorative than those of past seasons.

There is to be a revival of the "bell sleeve" with an elaborate under one gathered into a band at the wrist and possibly the long-flowing angle one as well.

Watteau paniers, crinoline flounces and the Directoire redingote are being made in silk, satin, lace and taffeta. They are still called picture-dresses but are worn in the same circumstances as the more popular spare skirts.

The place of the waistline is the next most important question and always asked at the beginning of the season. It has risen a little and may rise some more. Some think that Josephine dresses will be here when the snow begins to fly, but there will be no stiff bones in the bodices. Fashionable clothes are all limp and soft as few complicated fastenings as possible.

Consolidation

To the Voters of Morgan County:

I have declared on the stump and to the voters that I am in favor of passing a bill through the Legislature to consolidate Albany and Decatur. I want to definitely and specifically state that I will do this and how I will do it.

1st. I will introduce and pass a bill consolidating these cities.

2nd. I will introduce and pass a bill giving the people of the consolidated city the right to elect its officers within sixty days.

3rd. The bill that I will introduce and pass will be constitutional and valid and if attacked will stand the test of the courts.

4th. The name of the consolidated city to be Decatur, Alabama.

I hope every voter in the county will carefully read and consider this and I am particularly anxious that the voters of Albany and Decatur who are vitally concerned will carefully consider.

COMER FOR KILBY

At the beginning of the campaign I wrote Governor Kilby endorsing him for United States Senate. I have intimately known Governor Kilby for many years and appreciate his strong, practical horse sense; meaning, by that, his clear understanding of the many propositions which will come before the Federal Congress.

The freight and passenger rates, our relation to the public carrier,—these control the vital interest of Alabama more than any other. The Esch-Cummins Bill, passed as a war measure during Mr. Wilson's administration, took all regulations of public service carriers out of the power of the State and, under strong limitations, put it in the control of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington.

The Alabama Power Company is attempting to form a Trust of all the water power of the State, of the whole Southeast, and to fully accomplish this, is attempting to control, either by long lease, or ownership, Muscle Shoals, and are using every suborning process to control legislatures, both State and National, and particularly to have friendly members of not only the State legislature, but also of Congress, House and Senate. A strong, level-headed, experienced man in the Federal Senate was never more needed than now. His experience and leadership will be invaluable at this time irrespective of any other candidate.

Governor Kilby in every business of his own, in every business of the State, has always shown marked ability—absolutely trustworthy. Let us elect him therefore, regardless of any difference of opinion as to candidates for any other office.

Signed by B. B. COMER.

PONTIAC SIX

CHIEF OF THE SIXES

The Pontiac Six is scoring the most spectacular first year success ever recorded in automotive history—because it meets the driving conditions of today like no other car in the world at its price.

Without an excess ounce of bulk—without an unnecessary inch in length, it is ideally suited to the congested highways of today. Having the large t engine of any six costing less than $1,000, it flashes swiftly through congested traffic; and so sturdily is it constructed that it can be held at top speed for as many continuous hours as the driver likes.

Yet despite its highly desirable external compactness, the Pontiac Six is a supremely comfortable car. Step into the Pontiac Six Sedan. Note its roominess. Mark well the wide, inviting seats and ample leg room.

Then remember, that with all its luxurious provisions for comfort, the Pontiac Six turns in a 38 foot circle—and that it can be quickly and easily parked in places too small for other cars of equal passenger capacity.

Oakland Six, Companion to Pontiac Six—$1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

 Two fool Jackasses, say: "Get this dope, We're tied together with a piece of rope."
 Said one to the other, "You may come my way,
 While I take a nibble at the new mown hay."
 "I won't," said the other, "You come with me,
 For I, too, have some hay, you see." So they got nowhere, just pawed the dirt,
 And, oh, by golly! that rope did hurt!

Then they faced about, these stub-born mules,
 And said: "We're just like human fools;
 Let's pull together; I'll go your way,
 Then you come with me, and we'll both eat hay."
 Well, they ate their hay, and they liked it too
 And swore to be comrades, good and true.
 As the sun went down they were heard to bray,
 "Ah, this is the end of a perfect day."
 Now, get this lesson don't let it pass;

Barons Win And Lose To Chicks As New Orleans Triumphs Over Nooga

The Barons managed a dog fall with the Chicks yesterday. That was the best that they could do while New Orleans was ringing up another win over Chattanooga. Memphis and Birmingham battled for over three hours in that pair of tilts, the Chicks taking the first 11-8 and the Barons doing a stunt in the fourth frame of the last round to score a 4-0 victory. Curley Odgen held the Chicks to three hits in the last abbreviated fracas.

After the first slugfest young Horace Lisenbee took the hill for Memphis and stirred about in good fashion until his collision with Odgen in the fifth frame of the last game. Odgen and the star of the Memphis hurling staff rolled over several times until the Memphis ace came up with a dislocated shoulder. The score was nothing all at the time.

The Pels were handing Chattanooga another bitter pill during the same hour, resulting in an 8-5 verdict for the league leaders.

Little Rock lost to Atlanta when Pug Cavet failed to show any mercy to the Rockers who garnered but four blows.

Mobile took a hurling duel from Nashville 4-3, both teams hit safely ten times.

Up in the American circuit where Babe Ruth hangs out to grab a few thousand per year, things happened pretty fast. The Yanks won again from Cleveland nearest contenders, by an 8-7 count. Babe Ruth hit his 35th home run of the year and is now 24 homers back of his 1921 record, a long shot to win. Both clubs used a world of hurlers in an effort to stop the hitting attacks, but the attack kept up with the Yankees slightly in the lead.

GERTRUDE READY TO SWIM AGAIN

American Girl Shows No Ill Effects Of Channel Ordeal

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle bounced out of bed at 11:30 o'clock this morning declaring she was ready for another swim. She showed no traces of the terrible strain of yesterday's ordeal when she battled the currents of the English channel for 14 hours and 31 minutes, crossing from France to England and in record time and becoming the first of her sex to perform the feat.

The New York girl was full of pep to get ready to catch the afternoon boat from Folkestone to Boulogne, where her training quarters were established.

Asked to say something regarding her experience, Miss Ederle replied:

"All I can say is that, when I started off, I was determined to stay until I had planted my feet on the English shore and I am glad to say I did. I feel proud indeed and so would you, if you were receiving all these letters, telegrams and cables of congratulations."

THERE IS NO SATURATION POINT FOR HONEST VALUE

Honest value is a priceless commodity. Every purchaser seeks it, but not always with complete success.

During periods of careful buying he takes unusual pains to find it, and products of inferior merit fail to attract his patronage.

Reports then circulate that the "saturation point" in the automobile market has been reached, when in reality there will NEVER be a saturation point for honest value.

During the first six months of this year, for instance, Dodge Brothers sold 207,115 motor cars and trucks. This represents a gain of 49.3 per cent over the first six months of 1925, and continues Dodge Brothers in the enviable position of THIRD IN THE INDUSTRY.

For the three weeks ending July 17th, 23,862 motor cars and trucks were delivered to customers—an increase of 62.4 per cent over the same period last year, and impressive evidence that Dodge Brothers great sales gain is continuing through the quiet weeks of mid-summer.

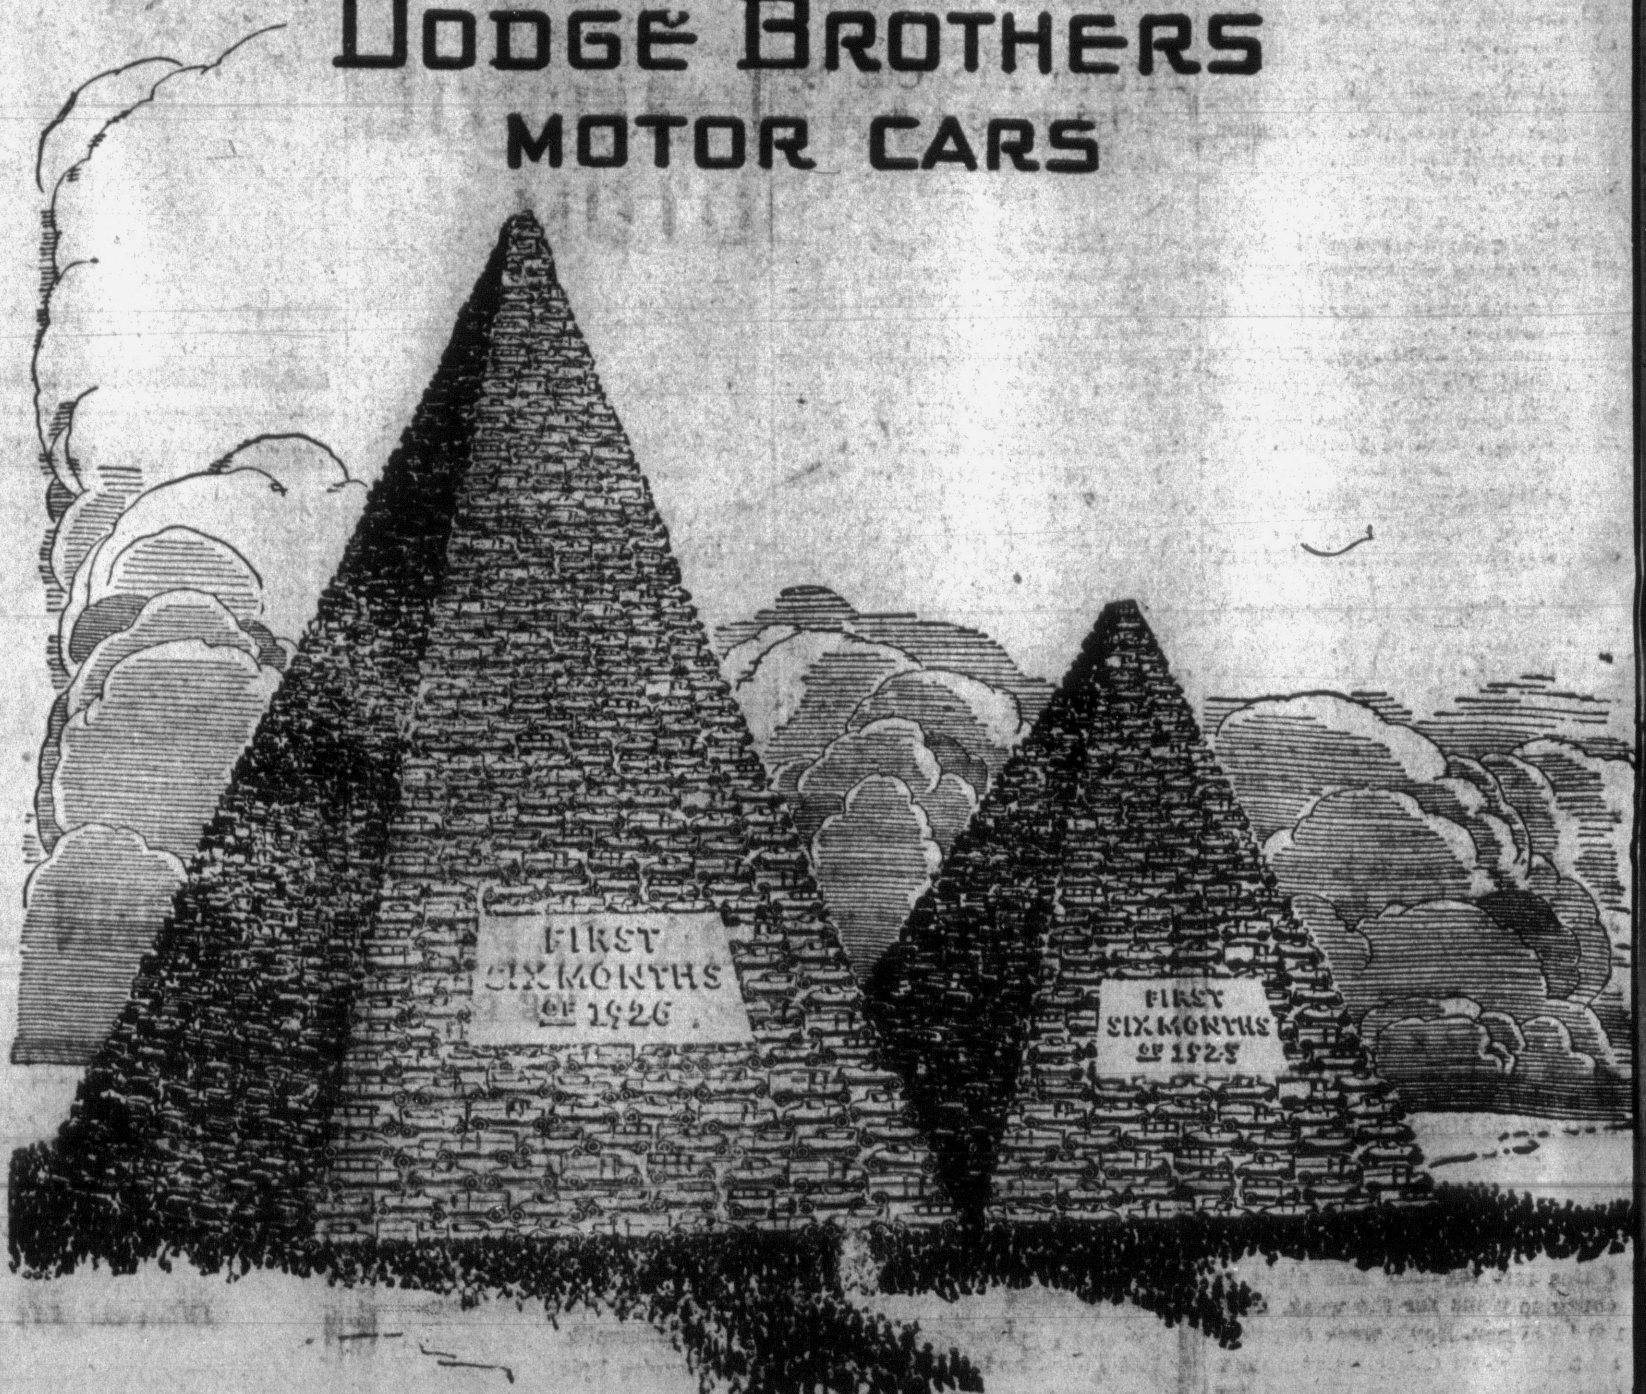

The more carefully people investigate and compare, detail by detail, the factors that constitute genuine motor car value, the more inevitably Dodge Brothers market expands and will continue to expand, year after year.

"Don Juan," screen play by Gene Markey, starring John Barrymore, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Don Juan's father, disilluminated by a faithless wife, warns him: "Destroy women or they will destroy you. Take their love scornfully—and forget!" This advice has made Don Juan the greatest lover of all time, envied by all men, adored by all women. Even Lucretia Borgia, at a peak of her infamous rule, dares to meet him. Meanwhile, powerful Duke Margoni surprises his wife in Juan's rooms; but Juan shows the Duke that his own beloved, Imperia, is also hidden there.

Utterly bewildered, he faced Juan, his anger quite gone.
"Your lovely wife has discovered your affection, shall we say?—for Imperia," murmured Juan. "She sent messages to you both to come here."

Juan paused, and the Duke shook his head, uncomprehendingly.
"Then she came herself, in order to catch you together," Juan continued. "I have done my poor best to protect you."

Helplessly Margoni looked from the bedroom door to the one behind whose hangings Imperia was concealed. Then back to Juan. For the first time in his whole domineering life he was completely at a loss.

Juan nodded toward the small door leading to the garden, then led him over to it, and indicated the way through the garden to the street. Graciously Margoni nodded to him and took his departure. Juan watched until the high gate of the castle was closed.

Lucretia turned and looked at him—

closed behind the Duke, then came back into the house, a curious little smile twisting his lips. Pedrillo, coming in from the bedroom, looked at him in admiration.

"Master, your skill—," he began, impulsively, then in response to Juan's "The Ladies?" went on, "They have gone, my lord."

Juan shrugged his shoulders, and turned to one of the massive chairs that had been sent to him from his home in Spain when he decided to stop in Rome for a time. But before he had settled into it, there was a clamor from without, a pounding on the door, that brought him to his feet again.

Pedrillo answered it, fully expecting another woman or another angry man to face him, but instead saw only a messenger in the magnificent livery of the Borgias.

The messenger strode across the room to Juan, and held out a parchment to him, but Juan made no move to take it. Pedrillo held out his hand for it then, but Juan caught the man's wrist in a grip like iron, and shook his head. To the messenger he said, "Put it down," and nodded to the messenger to leave.

To Pedrillo, returning after showing the man out, he explained: "Parchments are sometimes poisoned—and a message from a Borgia must be handled with care. 'Tis possible that I have robbed the great Cesare of a favorite lady—by some delicious accident."

And, picking up a knife with delicately wrought Toledo blade, he opened the parchment, without touching it with his fingers. Still holding it with the knife blade, he bent to read the invitation to a ball in the palace of the Borgias, which Lucretia had ordered sent to him after the incident of the monkey and the lingerie, and her cousin's subtle challenge to her.

A gesture to Pedrillo, and a list of his engagements for the day of the ball was laid on the table. He glanced down it. One woman's name followed another. Niki, Dracula, La Nina, the lovely blonde girl who wore green, Maria, Constantia, each had her hour. The mystery of the girl in green, however, for her extra hour, from shortly before sunset till some time after the day would have slipped.

Lucretia turned and looked at him—

closed behind the Duke, then came back into the house, a curious little smile twisting his lips. Pedrillo, coming in from the bedroom, looked at him in admiration.

"Master, your skill—," he began, impulsively, then in response to Juan's "The Ladies?" went on, "They have gone, my lord."

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

LOS ANGELES. — Harrison Fisher, America's foremost painter of beautiful women, hopes to find in California the inspiration for his masterpiece, he declared upon arriving from the east.

"I want to do something in black and white that will surpass anything I've ever done," Fisher announced, "and therefore, I'm going to haunt the movie studios, the beaches, the theatres, and wherever beautiful women congregate in search of inspiration."

While here the painter also planned to take a number of trips into the back country to make sketches of typical California scenes.

Romantic episodes from the life of Benvenuto Cellini, famous Italian sculptor, swordsman and lover de luxe, will form the basis for a Rudolph Valentino picture, it is announced.

The character of Cellini is ideally suited for Valentino's screen personality, the producers believe. Cellini was a native of Florence, Italy, and was born in 1500. He was not only a famous sculptor and worker in precious metals, but was also a medieval predecessor of the modern "sheik." Possessing a "way with women," Cellini dabbled in love with the utmost nonchalance and was always ready to fight his way out of any unpleasant consequences.

"I'm glad to be back."

That was the smiling admission of Raginald Denny, Universal comedian, who returned to Hollywood after a trip through the east. Denny visited Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis. The jaunt brought Denny into contact not only with theatre owners but also with a considerable number of his fans.

A single-reel picture showing the value of right living will soon be distributed by Carl Laemmle, president of Universal. The film is dedicated to Dr. Herman N. Bundeson, Chicago Health Commissioner, a personal friend of Mr. Laemmle's.

Reconstruction of the historic Temple of Jehovah is the task confronting Paul Iribe, who is handling the art direction on Cecil B. DeMille's pictorial story of Christ "The King of Kings."

Nothing definite is known of the temple's architecture, except its dimensions which were gleaned from the Talmud or Jewish Bible. The temple will be the setting for a major portion of the film.

The famous sea classic, "Two Years Before the Mast," will be made into pictures. This account of a trip to California made nearly one hundred years ago is one of the earliest descriptions of California. It was written by Richard Henry Dana who was forced to drop out of Harvard on account of ill health. Shipping before the mast, he worked his way around the Horn on an old-time sailing ship. At that time California was owned by Mexico and the principal exports were the hides of cattle. The only towns on the California coast were San Diego and Monterey. San Francisco, then known as Yerba Buena, was only a tiny collection of shacks.

Antonio Moreno, who recently scored a heavy success supporting Marion Davis in "Beverly of Graustark," has been chosen for the male lead in "The Flaming Forest," taken from the novel by James Oliver Curwood.

Moreno will play an officer of the Northwest Mounted Police in the new Cosmopolitan production. Locations in Wyoming and Montana have been selected.

The brave little army of candidates that have been staging a warm attack upon the voters of Lawrence county, are redoubling their efforts these last days.

After wearing a smile of hope and confidence whatever may be the bodeboding within. Adherents to the State and national candidates are firm in their belief that their particular man will win whether he does in the county or not—and each has strong supporters, so much so that it would be difficult to forecast the results; the county races, for each office in most instances, have developed into a struggle between two men with each of the others following as best they can.

Heavy rains during the week have put the roads over the county in bad shape, made hundreds of bushels of corn and hurt some cotton.

BANKHEAD

IN THE HOME STRETCH

The HOORAH is about over in this election campaign but the THINKING is still going on. Who are you going to send to the Senate from Alabama for six years? This is the greatest office to be filled by the voters. The selection of the best qualified man is of tremendous importance, especially here in North Alabama where the interests of Muscle Shoals and the Tennessee River are involved.

Bankhead reflects in every way the needs of this section. He knows our situation, he has the ability to serve it. His father was our friend, and the son will be our capable and untiring servant. With Bankhead in the Senate the Valley will have a sentinel on the watch tower.

If you are pledged to another candidate, for the sake of the Valley's best interests, vote for Bankhead for second choice. You will never regret it.
